How does the IPPC use pest reporting information?

01 Official information

Contracting parties share official information on pest occurrence, outbreaks and spread.

02 Information exchange

Countries share and access pest information through national and regional systems and the IPP.

03 National decisions

NPPOs use national and international pest information for PRA, surveillance, import requirements and preparedness.

Value for the IPPC community

- Earlier awareness of emerging threats and preparedness, including POARS
- Regional cooperation, pest trends and capacity-development needs
